Spring Quarter-2011

Spring 2011

Spring has sprung! The Earth Mother has miraculously transformed Winter's black and white landscape. Once bleak areas are now green with promise and spring flows are in full bloom. I, along with my furry companions, are in the forest twice daily to witness the miracle and see this transformation on a daily basis!

This month I have put two pictures I took for you to look at. The first is a picture of Virginia Bluebells, a wild flower. The second picture is one of my burning yellow tulips.

For some reason Winter was a rough season this year. Spring started very slowly this year. Lots of rain and cool weather. Sigh, April showers bring May flowers, I guess.

Events

Reading Purrfectly

A note for those of you who that have read the two Barque Cats books, Cataclysm and Catacombs, there will be no additional books in this series. This information came from the co-author Elizabeth Ann Scarborough.

For those of you who like books/stories about cats, I would highly recommend Elizabeth's recently published book, SPAM vs. The Vampire. Its currently available in e-book format. See the following link for information

<http://www.eascarborough.com/books/Spamvamp.htm>.

I got my copy directly from the author. It's a good story. It's also available on Kindle and other book readers.

Osama Bin Laden is dead!

I must say that I for one, am disappointed in the events that occurred. We had 24 big strong Navy Seals drop in on Bin Laden's hiding place. Instead of capturing him the gunned down a unarmed 54 year old man in cold blood. What a waste of the time and resources tracking Bin Laden down. Also, think of the information we could have gained from questioning Bin Laden. Obama says that justice was done. What kind of justice is a couple of bullets. Bin Laden could have been captured, placed on trial, sentenced to a more appropriate death.

Reading List for the Quarter
